NUMB. 3294

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1744.

Frankfort, December 2.

THE Imperial Miniſters that are ſtill here, ſeem to be not a little ſurpriz'd at the vigorous Meaſures taken by the Powers that are diſatisfied with the Treaty of Union; and their Aſtoniſhment and Concern is not a little increaſed by the following Memorial, which has been delivered to the Vice-[ch]ellor of the Empire, Count Konigsfeld, by the [Mi]ſters who have ſubſcribed it.

I R,

has been already remonſtrated to your Excellency, [by] Word of Mouth, that Advice has been received, [of] certain Diſpoſitions remark'd, which very plainly [ma]re certain Deſigns on the Part of the Troops of [the] moſt Chriſtian King, which it is abſolutely impoſſible [to] reconcile, either to the Neutrality of the States of [the] Empire, approv'd by the formal Reſolution of the [Di]et, the indefatigable Attention which, from his [Pa]ternal Sollicitude, his Imperial Majeſty continues to [ha]ve for the Welfare of our Country, or even with [the] true and natural Intereſts of the Head of the Em-[pire] himſelf.

We are informed from divers Places, and the Pre-[para]tion made of Veſſels and Bridges, manifeſtly indi-[cate] that we are on the Point of ſeeing a numerous [Body] of Forces march by Land and Water, to Places, [thro'] Countries, which are abſolutely Neuter, and [Bor]ders Countries which have nothing to do with [that] it ſeems to be the Object of the preſent unhappy [War]; ſo that they might reaſonably expect to enjoy, [by], a perfect Neutrality, and all this too, at a [Seaſ]on of the Year, when, inſtead of taking the Field, [it] has been hitherto uſual for Troops to quit it.

The Alarm taken at theſe Preparations, has been [now] confirmed by poſitive Declarations, that theſe [Troo]ps ſhall this Winter viſit certain States, ſituated [on] the Lower Rhine below Worms, there to take free [Quar]ters during the Winter, without any Formality, [or] Scruple, paying for any Thing; and with other Cir-[cum]ſtances, that may render this Viſit the more un-[eaſy] and unwelcome.

The Inquietude that muſt naturally ariſe at the Ap-[pre]henſion of ſuch an Irruption, ſo inſuſtainable, ſo [ruin]ous, and ſo contrary to the Profeſſion heretofore [made] by France, hath inclined the Ambaſſadors of the [Sta]tes, thus immediately menaced, to acquaint others [with] their Fears and Apprehenſions; who, beſides the [Pate]rnal Concern they have for whatever regards any [of] their Body, manifeſtly perceive, that, ſooner or later, [the] ſame Uſage muſt befal them.

After concerting therefore the propereſt Meaſures [for] preventing theſe Miſchiefs, they have taken the [Liber]ty, Sir, of addreſſing themſelves jointly, on this [Subj]ect, to your Eminency, to lay before you, as they [do] the Repreſentations requiſite, of theſe Grievances, [and] to deſire you to make Report of them to his Im-[perial] Majeſty. You have already had the Goodneſs [to] liſten to their Deſires, for which they again moſt [reſpe]ctfully return you their hearty Thanks; and, not [doub]ting the obliging Exactneſs with which that Re-[port] ſhall be made, they attended the good Effects of [it] with the utmoſt Confidence, when their Impatience [is] a little moved by the Nearneſs of the Danger; [which], as it approaches them more cloſely, obliges [the] Ambaſſadors and Miniſters, ſubſcribing theſe Pre-[ſents], to repeat, in Writing, what they have before [had] the Honour to lay before you by Word of Mouth; [and] to implore afreſh the efficacious Protection of his [Imp]erial Majeſty, moſt earneſtly beſeeching him to [aſſu]re to them the effectual Enjoyment of the com-[mon] Neutrality of the Empire, and to cover them in [time] from the dreadful Effects of the Apprehenſions [of] the above-mentioned, or of any other Enterprize contrary [to] the Neutrality: We thereupon aſſure your Excel-[lency], that we ſhall do our utmoſt to correſpond, in [Acts] of Gratitude, with the Trouble you may take [upon] this Occaſion.

Done at Frankfort,
Nov. 23, 1744.

To the Gentlemen who have undertaken to correct the Abuſes of the Theatre.

Gentlemen,

CONſidering our repeated Diſappointments, and being robbed of our Money at Drury-Lane Theatre, without the Opportunity of an adequate Satisfaction, I am ready to conclude, we muſt change our Method of proceeding; and, as the following ſeems the moſt feaſible, in my Opinion, I have preſumed to addreſs it to the Publick, that (if approved) it may receive ſuch Additions and Alterations, as may be judged moſt conducive to the Recovery of our Rights and Privileges, in regard to the Drama.

A Motion was made by a Gentleman in the Houſe, on Monday Night laſt, to come there no more this Seaſon; and I hope it will not be thought Preſumption in me, to offer the following Amendment.

As it is evident, that, except we can fix a conſiderable Number in that Reſolution, the Deſign will prove abortive; ſo I conclude, the ſureſt Method will be to have an Agreement drawn up by ſome of the Gentlemen concerned, and depoſited in ſome proper Place, eaſy of Acceſs, and publick Notice given, that any Gentleman, ſo inclined, may go and ſign his Name to it; by which he will be engaged in Honour not to be ſeen in Drury-Lane Playhouſe any more this Seaſon, till the Manager has ſubmitted to the Conditions propoſed, on Pain of being thought no Gentleman. I am,

Yours, &c.

—LONDON—

They write from Paris, that they have received a large Account from the Princes of the blowing up the Fortreſs of Demont, by which they are aſſured, that it is abſolutely ruined and deſtroyed; and this to ſuch a Degree, that it would coſt 14 Millions of Livres to put it in the Condition it was when laſt taken: Notwithſtanding which, ſome private Letters from the Army ſay, that ſeveral of the Mines had no Effect at all, and that the Place is not half demoliſhed.

The ſame Letters from Paris ſay, that Mr. Orni, Comptroller-General of the Finances, appears at preſent to have much greater Credit than any of the Miniſters; and, that greater Removes are talked of than thoſe that have been already made.

According to private Advices from Bruſſels, the French King is about to introduce a new Sort of War this Winter in Flanders, where he has granted a Commiſſion to one Mr. Vander Parr, a Fleming, and an Inhabitant of Furnes, with a Penſion of 1000 Florins, and an Annuity to his Wife in caſe of his Deceaſe; who, with 150 Men, is to go a Privateering upon the Canals, in order to ruin and diſtreſs the Trade of the Auſtrian Flanders.

The Names of the Prizes taken by the York, are the l'America, l'Amitie, St. Paul, le Princeſs; three of which were Homeward-bound, and the other Outward, to St. Domingo.

Extract of a Letter from Portaferry in Ireland, dated November 17.

'Yeſterday Morning a Veſſel of about 200 Tons, or 'upwards, was lying upon the South Rock: She hath 'Three Maſts, and ſeems to be new and well found, and 'hath all her Sails up; ſeveral People in Boats, from the 'Shore, went on board; but to their Surprize found no 'Perſon in her, but had two Dogs, a Cat, and a Cock: 'The Long Boat was gone, which makes it believ'd that 'the Men are loſt. She certainly came from Dublin, 'having for Lading ſome Casks of Spirits, freſh Beef, 'Neats Tongues, and Bread on board; and ſome Letters, 'and written Books, which none could read; 'tis believed 'ſhe belonged to Drunton, or Chriſtianſands. A great 'Parcel of fine Cloaths was found, which the Country 'People carried off, together with every Thing elſe they 'could get. She is ſtill whole; but it is thought, when 'the Wind changes, ſhe will go to Pieces.'

His Majeſty was pleaſed to make the following Anſwer to the Addreſs preſented by the Right Honourable the Houſe of Peers, on Wedneſday laſt, for his moſt gracious Speech from the Throne; viz.

My Lords,

'I heartily thank you for this dutiful and affectionate 'Addreſs; the Zeal which you have ſo ſeaſonably ex-'preſſed for my Perſon and Government, for carrying 'on this juſt and neceſſary War, and for the vigorous 'Support of my Allies, give me the greateſt Satisfaction: 'And your Unanimity in doing this, cannot fail to add 'greatly to the good Effects of it, both at Home and 'Abroad.'

Yeſterday the following Numbers were drawn Prizes in the State-Lottery; viz. 57,020, 2000 l. 37,490, 6278, 16,072, 33,246, 46,397, 12,256, 58,804, 37,740, 39,384, 100 l. each.
